

A New On-line Program

Summer Study Seminar and Writing Workshop

Mondays from June 8th, 10 am - 12 pm

Jungian Women & the Soul's Journey

The wisdom of the feminine sanctifies what it touches, making sacred one's most awkward gestures and clumsy performances, one's stuttering passions and stammering aspirations, unashamedly gathering all this into a wholeness and holiness where the commonest events of the flesh become a treasury of graces."

Ann Ulanov

Jungian women like Marie Louise von Franz and Esther Harding, Helen Luke and Marion Woodman, Ann Ulanov, Linda Leonard, and Clarissa Pinkola Estes have written about feminine process and creativity, spirituality and healing, dreams and body wisdom. In this weekly online program we will look at excerpts of their work and explore how their profound insights can inspire our lives, creative process, and expressive writing. Topics will include nourishing feminine soul, releasing creativity, honoring intuition, and integrating masculine energy – through discussion and writing, guided meditation and active imagination. Throughout the program you will receive weekly emails with additional material and questions for reflection and writing.
