

"Desert Dancers" courtesy of Nancy Patterson

Wild Women Writing Circle

(Online)

Marlene Schiwy, Ph.D

Wednesdays, February 2 –
April 20, 2022

10 am – 12:30 pm Pacific Time.

“Unconsciousness needs the eye of consciousness;
consciousness needs the
energy of the unconscious.
Writing allows that interchange to take place.”

Marion Woodman

If your writing would benefit from the weekly rhythm of writing in a circle of creative, openhearted, supportive women, please join us for this twelve week program. We will explore a wide variety of writing styles and genres and work with memoir and poetry, dreams and writing from the body, music and active imagination, fairy tale and proprioceptive writing. Weekly sessions will include teaching and discussion of the writing process, writing together, and small breakout groups where everyone is invited to share their writing. Writers at all levels are warmly welcome and you can read comments by past participants at: <https://www.marleneschiwy.com/wild-women-writing-circles>. In the second half of this program anyone who wishes can receive written comments and feedback on a piece of writing.

In preparation for this workshop, please read one of Marlene's books: either A Voice of Her Own: Women and the Journal Writing Journey, or Gypsy Fugue: An Archetypal Memoir.

Dates: February 2, 9, 16, 23; March 2, 9, 16, 23, 30; April 6, 13, 20.

Place: Zoom platform. Details will be sent to participants.

Fee: CAD $835 in Canada (e-transfer or personal cheque)
USD $835 outside Canada (Paypal or personal cheque)

(Includes workshop materials to be sent as Word and PDF files, individual consultations, and optional written feedback on a short piece of writing.)

For more information or to register, email Marlene at schiwy3@shaw.ca or call 604.734.3554

www.marleneschiwy.com